Contractors enter their company name and work email, then copy a link they can add to an estimate or their website.

A short homeowner request

The customer shares basic contact and project information. Social Security numbers, credit reports and bank statements stay out of this form.

A human introduction

Turnkey identifies the proposed financing provider and asks the homeowner for permission before sharing the request.

Turnkey Ventures provides marketing and introductions, not loans or credit decisions. Some financing options may be secured by the home. Availability, terms and funding times are determined by the provider.
