Silicon Valley
Project Financing

PARTNER OVERVIEW

Local projects. Simple connections.

Silicon Valley Project Financing connects Santa Clara County homeowners with a financing conversation through the contractors they already trust.

One customer link per contractor

Contractors enter their company name and work email, then copy a link they can add to an estimate or their website.

A short homeowner request

The customer shares basic contact and project information. Social Security numbers, credit reports and bank statements stay out of this form.

A human introduction

Turnkey identifies the proposed financing provider and asks the homeowner for permission before sharing the request.

The provider handles the loan

The financing company controls the application, documents, underwriting, disclosures and any funding decision.

Tell us what you are planning.

Share basic contact and project details. We will identify the proposed financing provider and ask for your permission before making the introduction.

Know the terms before you decide.

Ask about rates, fees, repayment and total cost. If financing is secured by your home, missed payments could put your home at risk.

Explore your options.
